

The figure consists of a 10x10 grid of colored squares. Each square's color represents a value, with a color scale ranging from dark purple (representing lower values) to bright yellow and red (representing higher values). A prominent diagonal trend is visible, where the values increase from the top-left corner (dark purple) towards the bottom-right corner (bright yellow and red). The grid is set against a white background with black vertical and horizontal grid lines.
